

My trip to London

Write an email to a friend about your trip to London.

Hi there,

I visited London two years ago. We flew there from Vienna in the morning and when we were approaching Heathrow airport I enjoyed a beautiful view of the main sights of London from above.

From the airport we took an underground train to the centre of the town. We had to wait in a long queue to get a special card which you need if you want to use public transport in London.

Luckily our hotel was in the centre, not a long distance from the Victoria station.

The next day we went on a "Hop-on-Hop-off" bus tour through the street of the town. London has the population of eight million people and is a big town but the main sights are in the centre. First, we went past Buckingham Palace. There are always a lot of tourists there who want to see the Changing of the Guards. We got off there and walked to Tower Bridge.

Tower Bridge is huge and there is always a lot of traffic there. From the Bridge we had a nice view over the Tower of London and the River Thames. From there we walked to the Tower of London which was once a palace, then a prison and now a museum. We bought the tickets online in advance and didn't have to wait in a queue. I didn't like the place very much.

Tomorrow we are going to take a tour on the London Eye. I am going to take a photo of London when I am on the top.

See you soon

Peter
