

Tell a friend about your holiday and recommend it to him/her. Write an email of 150 words.

You can use the questions below to help you.

Where did you go and why?

What was good about it and why?

What did you do there?

What should he/she try there? Why?

Would you go there again? Why/why not?

Hi Matt,

4th November

Last year my family and I went to Israel for a holiday, and I would like to recommend this country to you. It was during winter, and we wanted to get away from the cold weather in Vienna.

The flight took us three hours. We left Vienna in the morning and landed at a small airport in the south of Israel. Then we waited for a bus which took us to Eilat. Fortunately, there was air-conditioning on the bus because it was very hot outside. When we arrived at our hotel, we left our suitcases in the room and jumped into the swimming pool. It was in February, but the weather in Israel was very hot at that time.

The next day, while my mother and brother were still sleeping, my father and I went hiking. There were some rocks near our hotel, and it took us thirty minutes to get to the top. From the top, we had a beautiful view of the Dead Sea and Egypt. After breakfast, we walked to the Ocean Park World where I could see sharks and a lot of colourful fish.

After two days in Eilat, we drove to Jerusalem. It was a long and boring trip through the desert. There were no trees and no houses, only yellow rocks. By the time we got to Jerusalem, I was tired, hungry and thirsty.

The next morning, my father and I got up early to buy something for breakfast. The shops were still closed at the market, but on the doors of the shops, we could see the spray pictures of famous people painted by Solomon Souza. After breakfast, we took a tour in the Old City. While we were walking on the wall around the city, my brother hurt his leg.

On the way back to Eilat, we stopped at the Dead Sea. The water is very salty there, and it was impossible to swim, but it was a lot of fun to float in the water. I collected some salt rocks and brought it back home.

I want to recommend a holiday in Israel because it is a fascinating country. The weather was perfect, even in February, and you can see a lot of new things and try different food.

See you soon.

Peter (386 words)