

An email from Los Angeles.

Dear Philipp,

I hope this email finds you well. I am writing to share my recent experiences in Los Angeles and tell you about my incredible trip.

I flew to LA with my family last summer. Our hotel was near Venice Beach, a very vibrant part of the city. There are always a lot of people and if you are lucky you may even spot a movie star. Of course, we strolled along the Walk of Fame with iconic stars of famous people.

The highlight of our trip to Los Angeles was a visit to the Universal Studios Hollywood. It is an incredible theme park and a film studio, and there are so many things to do and see. For me, stunt demonstrations and high-tech rides were the best.

When we got tired of the city, my father rented a car and we went to the Santa Monica Mountains. We went hiking and in the evening admired a breathtaking sunset at the stunning beach. My mom said that it was a perfect escape from the busy city.

I had an unforgettable time in Los Angeles.

Looking forward to seeing you back home.

Warm wishes,

Andy
